

2019 Lexus NX Gets Distinct Styling, Touches with the Black Line Treatment

January 31, 2019

PLANO, Texas (January 31, 2019) – A driving experience is anything but ordinary in the NX 300 F SPORT. It grabs the senses with its detailed design, handling performance and sound. Now guests have another opportunity to distinguish themselves in the new 2019 Lexus NX F SPORT Black Line Special Edition with additional styling and accessories built on the same popular F SPORT base.

Building on the sporty styling of the NX F SPORT, features such as Lexus Safety System+ and Lexus Enform Wi-Fi (with 4GB of space included for the first year) and Apple CarPlay™ still provide the support needed for a busy lifestyle. The NX F SPORT Black Line vehicles enhance the driving experience through unique styling and design touches on both the interior and exterior of the vehicle.

Elevated Driving Experience with Attention to the Details

Once inside, guests will experience two all-new firsts for the NX – exclusive Mark Levinson® 14-speaker, 835-watt Premium Surround Sound Audio System complemented by unique F SPORT Arctic White and Black seats. The body-hugging, quilted NuLuxe® sport seat surfaces are exclusive to the F SPORT family, and for the Black Line Special Edition, they are coordinated with a black headliner, unique floor mats, cargo mat, and key gloves.

Guests will appreciate the exclusive 10.3” Navigation System multimedia display for the NX Black Line, accessed with the Remote Touchpad. Traditionally part of an upgrade, the display predicts traffic information, including detour preview, ETA calculation and low-fuel coordination with nearby fuel stations. The subscription-free Lexus Enform® App Suite 2.0 is standard across all models.

Additional upgraded features that come standard in the NX F SPORT Black Line include Comfort Package with Blind Spot Monitor and Heated/Ventilated Front Seats, Power Tilt/Telescoping Steering Column, Intuitive Parking Assist, Power Rear Door with Kick Sensor, Moonroof and Auto-dimming inside rear-view mirror. The Lexus NX 300 F SPORT Black Line brings the sound of the revving engine inside with Active Sound Control (ASC), which brings some of the engine note through the speakers and enhances it, with volume adjustable by the driver. All of which bring the comforts and excitement of driving within the control of the driver.

Accentuated Luxury SUV with Enhanced Exterior Styling

Available in Ultra White, Obsidian and Atomic Silver this limited run of 1,000 NX units will turn heads with its F SPORT 19” split-six-spoke wheels and lower sport body side graphic. These alloy wheels achieve a more aggressive appearance thanks to the lower body alignment and larger exhaust opening (standard on NX F SPORT model vehicles).

With 1,000 units of this special edition crossover in production, the 2019 NX 300 F SPORT Black Line Special Edition will begin arriving at dealerships in February. It has starting Manufacturer’s Suggested Retail Price (MSRP) of the following:

- NX 300 F SPORT FWD – $48,575
- NX 300 F SPORT AWD – $49,975

The 2019 NX F SPORT Black Line Edition will be on display at the 2019 Chicago Auto Show and will be joined by the debut of the 2019 LC Inspiration Series.
