TORRANCE, Calif., (Nov. 21, 2013) – Fresh off of its worldwide debut at the 2013 Guangzhou Motor Show in China, the 2014 CT 200h will make its first North American appearance at the 2013 Los Angeles Auto Show today.

This compact luxury hybrid receives a new Lexus “spindle grille,” one of several dynamic and sophisticated exterior styling changes implemented for 2014 model year. Other exterior changes include newly designed alloy wheels, LED headlamps, and a revised rear appearance with distinctive L-shaped reflectors. Inside, the 2014 model includes a thinner, fixed screen with triple-display capability and second-generation remote touch interface for the available Navigation and Display Audio.

The Lexus booth, located in the South Hall of the Los Angeles Convention Center, will also include the striking, red LF-LC concept, the Lexus DeviantART Challenge-winning IS build, an LFA supercar and the head-turning 2014 Lexus IS.

The new CT 200h, and other Lexus vehicles, will be on display through Dec. 1, 2013.
